

THE STUDIO SCHOOL OF DURHAM

DISCOVER • MASTERY • ADVENTURE

ABOUT US

Launched in 2017, The Studio School of Durham is a new, research-based, project-focused independent school for children in kindergarten through 5th grade, with middle school coming 2020. We believe children deserve and need a 21st century education, so we equip our students with a spirit of discovery, mastery, and adventure that will empower them to fulfill their greatest potential across their school years and beyond.

We are located in the Woodcroft Neighborhood of South Durham, and surrounded by 3.5 miles of trails and Third Fork Creek.

OUR APPROACH

Proud to be a new kind of approach to independent school, The Studio School welcomes students and parents who are tired of worksheets, endless homework, and standardized testing that leaves you unchallenged. Featuring rich experiences, Studio School students create real-world deliverables in beautiful indoor classrooms and an inspiring Design lab.

On a daily basis, students are challenged and given the creative opportunities to master critical thinking, problem solving skills, and a spirit of adventure about their own purpose and educational development.

TESTIMONIALS

“When I pick my son up after school he is bursting with energy, proclaiming 'I LOVE SCHOOL!' He loves the different projects he gets to be a part of, has made some great friends, and comes home talking about and putting into practice things he has learned (right now it's a lot more reading and writing on his own than he used to do). I have also been so impressed by the teachers - they are so full of positive energy, my son can't leave before giving them each a big hug. I'm so grateful that we found this place and hoping that my other children can someday be a part of it!”

- Lower Elementary School Parent

“Project time is interesting and fun. It has teamwork and I really like long term work where I can work on it every day. Instead of doing one problem and finishing it in ten seconds, when you finish a really big project you feel good that you did it.”

- Upper Elementary School Learner

“I love seeing my child having so many more experiences that just aren't possible in a traditional school environment. Between the hands on project work, and the dedicated time in the Design Studio, and a real recess where kids get to burn off the energy needed to focus on learning, we couldn't be happier with the Studio School. We also really love the way the mixed age learning environment allows our child to be a leader to younger children, but also be mentored by older students. It's just amazing to see.”
